

CUPE EDUCATION WORKERS MAKING SCHOOLS WORK

OSBCC Conference Report | February 9-13, 2016 | Richmond Hill, Ontario

On the evening of Tuesday, February 9th, 2016, the Ontario School Boards Coordinating Committee (OSBCC) annual sector conference was called to order by Sister Terri Preston, our Chair.

Following the reading of the equality statement and a moment of silence for education workers who have passed away, we heard from Sister Joanne Webb, CUPE Ontario's aboriginal Diversity VP. Sister Webb brought greetings to us, and she addressed the theme of this year's conference: moving forward. Sister Webb reminded us to "stay in the present, and honour each small step in life. Your small steps accumulate and move you forward in your journey." Brother Vern Andrus gave a gift of tobacco as a thank you to Sister Joanne, who noted that it would be her last year as a VP. Sister Joanne received a standing ovation.

Area reps Sylvain Piché and Elena DiNardo brought greetings to delegates, as did Eddie Pereira from the Peel CUPE Council.

Delegates then welcomed New Democrat MPPs Wayne Gates and Lisa Gretzky, NDP education critic. MPP Gretzky, who was a trustee before she was elected to Queens Park, singled out CUPE education workers for the work we do. She decried the lack of funding for public education, and pledged to fight cuts in the sector alongside us. She talked about cuts to frontline staff, and spoke to the value of the entire education team – teachers, early childhood educators, educational assistants, and the many others who support students each day.

Delegates welcomed two special guest speakers to the first night of the conference: former Toronto District School Board (TDSB) student Anthony Girenti, and his father Marco. Anthony was a learning-disabled student who relied a great deal on the CUPE education workers who supported him, and his father paid tribute to them, as did Anthony.

Anthony and his dad talked about how we can make change by being different, by changing thinking, by changing paradigms. Marco said that many experts told him Anthony would not be able to accomplish the things he has. Marco credits Anthony being a "disruptor" – someone whose entire existence is devoted to doing things differently – with the successes Anthony has had in creating an animated web series called "Artistic Guardian." Marco and Anthony played a bit of the web series for delegates, who collectively raised over $7,000 to help Anthony purchase the computer equipment needed to continue moving his animation work forward.

Delegates also heard from CUPE Ontario President Fred Hahn on the first night of the conference. Brother Hahn addressed the two difficult rounds of bargaining faced by our sector in recent years. He praised the job action we took in the fall of 2015, noting that it had an external impact that strengthened us at the bargaining table and let us keep moving forward. Brother Hahn talked about income inequality, stagnant wages, and precarious work. He urged us to tackle these issues in our classification meetings and strategize about how to fight the push to casualize our work. Brother Hahn also talked about how the fight for economic justice goes hand in hand with the fight against racism.

Before the conference adjourned for the evening, Brother Frank Ventresca announced that Brother Keith Levere won the Peter Kormos Award. The award is given by the Niagara Region Labour Council for outstanding political activism and leadership by a union member. Brother Keith is a member of the executive of Local 4156.

There was a meet-and-greet social following adjournment on the first evening.

On Wednesday, February 10th, delegates opened the day with a report from OSBCC Chair Terri Preston. (For those who have a copy of the conference book, Terri's report can be found at Tab 7).

Sister Preston thanked all committee members and alternates, as well as the staff assigned to the OSBCC, for all their work over the last year. She especially welcomed first-time sector conference attendees.

Sister Preston introduced the central bargaining committee, and she highlighted the gains made in central bargaining. She touched on:

- A consistent sick leave plan of 11 days at 100% and 120 days at 90%;
- Access to sick leave for those working in long-term supply assignments;
- Improvements to our maternity leave language, providing a minimum of eight weeks' pay;

- EI top-up provisions for the new Employment Standards Act leaves;
- Established seniority for members currently without a seniority date;
- Protection of the workforce complement;
- A central dispute resolution process;
- Committees to continue centralized talks with the government and the council of trustees' associations related to: ECE working conditions, health and safety, labour relations (including a violence prevention training programme), LTD working group, and a diverse and inclusive workforce committee.

Sister Preston acknowledged members' disappointment that we were unable to break through percentage wage increases set by the teachers. We were clear throughout bargaining that we could not pay for wage increases by reducing jobs.

She reviewed the work-to-rule action – our first on that scale and the largest job action in CUPE's history. She praised members' commitment to it, and noted that most locals now have improved internal communications systems as a result.

Sister Preston mentioned the ongoing work needed to work with government to develop a violence prevention strategy, to fight school closures, and to do our due diligence around the benefits trust.

She mentioned the Charter challenge on Bill 115, and advised members it would be some time until we have a decision. (Following the sector conference, in April, we received the decision, and we won! We are in the process of trying to agree on remedy, and if we cannot, the matter will go back before the courts).

Sister Preston emphasized the need to organize unorganized workers in our sector. She announced that we will be working with CUPE National to train member organizers in the locals who identify opportunities in their boards.

Finally, Sister Preston pledged to continue to keep locals updated through regular town halls and bulletins, and praised members for continuing to make the case for our services in their communities.

Staff coordinator Jim Morrison also gave a report. He thanked the bargaining committee and the bargaining support committee for all their work, and drew special attention to Sister Darcie McEathron, who acted as bargaining support coordinator in the months leading up to settlement. Brother Morrison also led the delegates in a standing ovation for Sister Terri Preston. Jim praised Terri for leading the bargaining and the support strategy from start to finish.

Brother Morrison shared a slide presentation on coordinated bargaining achievements, prepared in conjunction with researcher Paul O'Donnell. This slide presentation was sent electronically to local presidents. Considerations in assessing what achievements were made on the coordinated language included looking at what language was already in place in specific bargaining units, and whether or not the proposed language applied to members represented by those bargaining units. Brother Morrison also touched on several of the achievements outlined by Sister Preston.

He provided an update on the number of locals who'd achieved new contracts in local bargaining: at the time of the conference the number was 41. He asked delegates to pledge their support to locals in their areas who were still in bargaining, to keep pressure on boards to reach deals.

Brother Morrison mentioned a benefits conference to be held in early April to review the options under the proposed benefits trust, and advised that details of this conference would be circulated soon.

Local 3396 announced that they were collecting toiletries for women's shelters in their area. Sister Melissa Martin of Local 3447 announced that a member of the local's school community had recently died and she encouraged members to pass the hat in the afternoon. (Delegates later pledged $1,103.15 to help this sister's family).

Classification meetings started at 10:30, and were held for the rest of the morning, and the first part of the afternoon.

Mid-afternoon, delegates welcomed Brother Blain Morin, CUPE National Staff in the Health and Safety department. Brother Morin did a slide presentation on Bill 132, a piece of legislation that amends various statutes regarding sexual violence and harassment in the workplace, and drew delegates' attention to CUPE Ontario's submissions on the bill (available at cupe.on.ca and in the conference booklet).

Following Brother Morin, delegates heard from Brother Don Postar (health and safety) and Brother Darrell Day (injured workers).

Brother Postar's report focused on mental health, and on the gains made in bargaining around health and safety. Letter of Understanding (LOU) 14 speaks to the provincial health and safety working group, and LOU 15 concerns violence prevention training.

Brother Day gave his report – what will be his last in the role. He highlighted some positive developments for injured workers (a return to full inflation indexing for those receiving benefits, and a reversal of negative changes to the calculations of survivors' benefits). He also reported on the change of leadership at the WSIB, with the Premier's former chief of staff Tom Teahen assuming the role of CEO at the WSIB.

The day concluded with a brief Q and A, and the announcement of election forums for open positions: Chair, Health & Safety rep, Injured Worker rep, and alternates for Health and Safety and Injured Workers.

Adjournment was at 5:05 pm.

The morning of Thursday, February 11th, delegates heard from Sister Candace Rennick, Secretary-Treasurer of CUPE Ontario.

Sister Candace thanked Terri for her incredible leadership in the sector. She talked about the challenges ahead for education workers: cuts at the board level, possible privatization of our work, and ongoing need to prevent violence on the job. She pledged a commitment to be there for education workers as they move forward with crucial decisions on the benefits trust. She made reference to the National Officers' attendance at the sector meeting and urged delegates to ask them for support.

Sister Rennick then opened elections, and explained the process.

Election of Chair

Terri Preston of Local 4400 stood for election, and was acclaimed.

Election of Health & Safety Rep

Vicky Evans of Local 4148 and Don Postar of Local 5555 agreed to stand for election. An election was held, and Brother Postar was elected.

Election of Injured Workers' Rep

Nora Shaughnessy of Local 1483 stood for election, and was acclaimed.

Election of Health & Safety Alternate

Election of Injured Workers' Alternate

Debbie Gillan of Local 997 agreed to stand for election, and was acclaimed.

Motions to destroy all ballots were moved and seconded by Brother Vern Andrus and Brother Sylvain Piché, and these motions carried.

Central Dispute Resolution Process

Jim Morrison took delegates through a document explaining the new central dispute resolution process.

THE CENTRAL DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCESS BETWEEN CUPE LOCAL/SCHOOL BOARD

The following process pertains exclusively to disputes and grievances on central matters that have been referred to the central process. In accordance with the School Board Collective Bargaining Act, 2014 central matters may also be grieved locally, in which case local grievance processes will apply. In the event that central language is being grieved locally, the local parties shall provide the grievance to their respective central agents.

ALLEGED VIOLATION

Dispute filed Centrally	Dispute filed locally
Notice of Disputes (C4.12) – The party alleging the violation shall submit a form found in Appendix A and send it to the responding party and the Crown. Information on the Central Dispute form should include, the alleged violation of the central agreement, statute, regulation, guideline or directive at issue. A comprehensive statement of relevant facts and remedy requested shall also be included.	Local grievance – The local can file a grievance on central issues as per the local collective agreement.

Referral to the committee (C4.13) – The Central Dispute Resolution form must be sent to the Co-chairs of the Central Committee and the Crown no later than 30 working days of the alleged violation. The Central Disputes resolution committee will review the dispute within 20 working days. If there is no decision within 20 working days of the Central party submitting the dispute may file the dispute as a grievance and refer it to arbitration within 10 working days.	Arbitration: If this matter is not resolved through the grievance procedure, it may be referred to arbitration as per the local collective agreement.
Timelines (C4.14) – Timelines for the Central Dispute process is set out in this article.	Decision or settlement

Arbitration (C4.16) – if the parties are unable to resolve the dispute in question, they may refer the matter to arbitration for a decision.

Structure of the new Collective Agreement

Brother Morrison also took delegates through the structure of the new central agreement, explaining that Part A will contain the central agreement, Part B the local agreement, and that an appendix will sit between the two parts, containing status quo language.

Panel discussion on the Bill 122 experience

Delegates listened to a panel discussion on the Bill 122 experience, featuring Sister Terri Preston and Brother Paul Elliott, President of OSSTF.

Brother Elliott and Sister Preston both emphasized the importance of CUPE and the four teaching affiliates presenting a united front, and cited the first time they all met together with the Minister of Education. They talked about how we’d had to fight for the ability to strike at both the local and the central level – that it wasn’t present in the first draft of Bill 122. They talked about the shortcomings in the process, and evidence that the conflicts among the various trustee associations played out at the table.

There was some discussion of the change in government role as it related to bargaining: in previous rounds, the province had acted as more of a facilitator. Now it was sitting at the table next to trustees, not neutral, and reading from a script that heavily emphasized the “net zero” language.

There was some discussion of the various labour board rulings the unions received over the course of the process. Both Brother Elliott and Sister Preston emphasized the need to be ready for a lengthy strike in the next round of bargaining.

For the remainder of the afternoon of Thursday, February 11th, area meetings were held.

Friday morning, February 12th, Brother Fred Hahn swore in the chair, the area reps, the alternates, Health & Safety and Injured Workers’ reps and alternates, with congratulations to all.

Delegates were then addressed by Brother Mark Hancock, CUPE National President, who brought greetings from the National Executive Board. He thanked delegates for their work in the education sector, and for their activism within the union. He talked about the need to broaden understanding that the school system is not solely about teachers, that education workers are central.

Brother Hancock noted that Ontario education workers were watched closely within CUPE during the recent round of bargaining. He heralded the leadership within our sector as extraordinary, and praised the work-to-rule job action so widely viewed as central to our ability to get a deal. He praised members on the central contract achieved and encouraged those local still bargaining to keep working.

Sister Preston then introduced the Working Group on Benefits. She explained the leadership meeting that will be held in April to review the choices on the benefits trust. Brother Jim Morrison then introduced Clio Godkewitsch of the law firm Koskie Minsky.

Ms Godkewitsch took delegates through a slide presentation on employee life and health trusts, reviewing options. She went over the advantages and disadvantages of participating, and her presentation was followed by a Q and A.

Sister Preston then introduced Patti Chapman to give her final report as Secretary Treasurer. Sister Terri thanked her for all her hard work over the years. Sister Chapman received a heartfelt standing ovation from delegates. Sister Chapman then delivered her financial report, including the case for the OSBCC levy.

Our next speaker was Charles Fleury, CUPE National Secretary-Treasurer. Brother Charles congratulated Terri and the entire team. He acknowledged all of the mobilizing work done, and said “the government now knows you will stand together.” He spoke of both Terri and Candace’s advocacy on behalf of education workers with the National – saying they both phoned to tell him how crucial the support of National was. He reported that the National had sent support amounting to $2 million to buttress both mobilizing and bargaining efforts. He also made reference to the National funding of the Charter challenge on Bill 115, and the task force struck following Convention to study strike pay.

We then moved into reports that came out of the classification meetings.

Following close of motions, we heard from Brother Frank Ventresca with a crucial reminder on the importance of filing claims and advising the union of injuries on the job. Frank told delegates about a member who sustained three concussions at work. The Board asked this member, who was not permanent, to wear a helmet that the member found to be very uncomfortable, and also scary-looking. The union was able to work with the member to find something more reasonable – something that didn't make him look like he was participating in a fight match. Brother Frank emphasized how important it is that members come to the union when they are injured on the job, both so that WSIB claims can be properly filed, but also so that the union can advocate on their behalf.

The conference adjourned at 4:37 pm on Friday, and a social was held that evening.

On Saturday February 13th, we reconvened at 9:10 am.

Sister Preston thanked Elena and Sylvain for the great party they organized Friday night, and also brought birthday greetings to Sister Joanne Webb. Sister Webb then introduced Grand Chief Gordon Peters of the Iroquois nation.

Grand Chief Peters is a mediator and negotiator who specializes in team-building. He talked about the lasting impact of residential schools on First Nations people in Canada. He delivered a message of hope and resilience despite the damage done to survivors, and spoke of "freedom schools" to teach indigenous beliefs again. He said we must hold school boards to account for the standards taught, and he said that the reality of school closures in northern and rural areas is that indigenous children will have to travel further to get a basic education, which is wrong. He asked for solidarity from our sector, and referred to work he has done with the group People for Education.

A brief Q and A followed his remarks, and Grand Chief Peters was presented with a gift of tobacco by Sister Webb.

Sister Terri wished everyone a safe journey home, and the sector conference was adjourned at 10:15 am.
